Seek Ways To Accept Road

Three articles for the March town meeting have been offered by residents of Carmel rd. — all designed to offer the residents some relief from their present road problems.

Boyd C. Bellinger, Fred Simon, Joseph McDonald, John C. Gillies, Fred Symons and Stanley Vogt presented the articles to the Selectmen at the regular meeting Monday night.

One would ask town meeting to waive requirements for road acceptance, the second asks for acceptance of Carmel rd. as-is and the third would provide for improvements, the cost to be assessed to the property owners under a betterment act.

Trial Ended In Settlement

Settlement was reached last Friday, during the trial of a suit by Suburban Household Enterprises against the Board of Public Works over its award of a bid on the town garage to other than the lowest bidder.

Details of the settlement, reportedly satisfactory to Suburban, have not yet been made public. Town Counsel Vincent Stulgis told this newspaper Tuesday that he was waiting for the text of a letter, which he said is being drawn up by representatives of the Suburban firm. The agreement also is known to provide for the payment of some money to Suburban.

Agreement was reached after the noon recess on Friday, Dec. 13, as the attorney for the plaintiff was preparing to continue with witnesses for his client before Judge Francis Good. In a dramatic move, Atty. Matthew Gregg had opened his case Thursday afternoon, Dec. 12, by putting the defendants on the stand.

As one after another of the Board of Public Works members were called to the stand followed by two representatives of the press. There was conflicting testimony as to whether the press was or was not present during an Oct. 21 meeting when the bid was awarded

Salaries Cause Biggest Boost

A tentative School Department budget of $1,018,387 has been approved by the School Committee.

The total — some $216,623 above last year's budget — is still not definite. Members of the Committee have explained that custodians and some clerical help have not been included for a raise because their positions are being analyzed by the evaluation firm. Thus there remained the possibility that the budget total will be increased slightly when that report is available.

The School Committee listed four major reasons for the budget and whether the press did or did not question the Board as to why it had awarded the contract to Cyr Construction Company instead of to Suburban Household Enterprises, the low bidder.

Both sides questioned various witnesses at length as to what the treasurer of Suburban, John Lynch had actually said at a previous meeting when he was interviewed by the BPW concerning the contract.

Board members said he had told the BPW to hurry up and award the contract, and later had said in anger, "I don't want the job, give it to the two frogs."

Mr. Lynch agreed that he had spoken out in anger but denied making just that statement. He said he had become annoyed at considerable questioning by the members of the board and at a "personal" remark by a board member. He said he had left the meeting saying, "Go ahead and give it to Cyr if you can." He said he had not withdrawn because he would have lost $500 by so doing.

He denied he had said to "give it to the two frogs," because, he explained, "I'm half French, the president of the company is French and I wouldn't have a job tomorrow if I'd said that."

Mr. Lynch was preceded by the two members of the press, David Young, editor of the Andover Townsman, and Mrs. Helen Peters of the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune. The two reporters agreed that they were present at the meeting Oct. 21 when the bid was awarded to Cyr Construction, that Mrs. Peters had questioned the BPW as to why they had awarded the bid to other than the low bidder; that the BPW chairman Allen Flye had said the Suburban had not withdrawn, but that "we deem him (Cyr) to be the most responsible."

On Friday, Mrs. Helen Peters of Ipswich, correspondent in Andover for the Eagle-Tribune newspapers, was called to the witness stand by Atty. Matthew A. Cregg, counsel for the petitioners, to tell about a conversation which she had with the board chairman, Allen M. Flye, on the night of Oct. 21 at a meeting when the vote to award the contract was taken.

Ten Andover taxpayers, led by Francis E. Robertson, Jr., are seeking an injunction to bar the town from disbursing funds to the Cyr concern for the garage construction. Suburban Household Enterprises, Inc., of Andover, which bid $23,900 on the garage project, asked the court to enjoin performance of the work. It also had a petition for a writ of certiorari in an effort to have the Cyr contract revoked.

Board members Francis P. Reilly and David M. Thompson, testified Friday morning, both having been called to the stand by Cregg. Each declared that John Lynch, treasurer of the Suburban firm, told the board that he did not want the contract. Reilly said that he voted to award it to Cyr in the best interest of the town.

Thompson declared that he did not consider Lynch's firm responsible.

Mrs. Peters testified that she sat three feet from the board's table at the Oct. 21 meeting and that she noticed Flye and Thompson discussing something in low voices. She questioned Flye, she said, and the chairman told her that the board was awarding the contract to the Cyr firm. She asked Flye if the Cyr bid were low, and Flye replied in the negative, it was brought out.

The newspaperwoman told the judge that she asked Flye if the low bidder had withdrawn. Flye said the low bidder had not according to her testimony, and she then asked why the board did not give the contract to the lowest bidder. Flye answered that the board deemed Cyr the most responsible, the witness declared.

Mrs. Peters maintained that her conversation with Flye took place while the meeting was going on and that it did not occur after the meeting concluded.

Cross-examined by Town Counsel Vincent F. Stulgis, the witness denied that she informed him in a telephone talk that Flye had conversed with her on these points as he was going out the door after the meeting. Mrs. Peters testified that she knew nothing about the Suburban firm having withdrawn its bid, and that she never knew that Mr. Lynch had done so.

Reilly testified that Mrs. Peters queried Flye after the meeting but that he did not know what the conversation was. Questioned by Atty. Ferdinand A. Bernardin, counsel for the Cyr firm, Reilly contended that he did not get satisfactory answers from Mr. Lynch about carrying out the entire amount of the proposed contract. Lynch told the board that he did not need the job because he had plenty of work, according to Reilly, who said that the Suburban firm's representative "got excited and walked out" of a conference held by the board three days before the contract was awarded. Under cross-examination by Atty. Cregg, Reilly said that it helped to make up his mind when Lynch walked out of the conference, but that there were other things in his mind.

Thompson testified that Lynch told the board that there would be a limitation on the project because of a 10 week delay in steel delivery and that "this seemed unusual to me." The witness added that he did not get satisfactory information as to the Suburban firm's financial ability. He said that Lynch left the conference and declared that he did not want the job and told the board to "give it to the two Frenchmen."

Thompson denied that Lynch at that point said "give it to Cyr if you can." The witness added that he believed the board had a right to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder. He added that he would say that Mr. Lynch's firm was "irresponsible."

Thompson claimed that he did not hear Mrs. Peters ask any questions until after the meeting of Oct. 21. When she started to talk, he grabbed his hat and started for the door, according to Thompson, who said that he did not "want to be around there."

"Why did you disappear so quickly?" inquired Judge Good. "It was late in the evening and I was anxious to get home," Thompson replied. "I imagine it was after 10:30 p.m."

The witness agreed with the judge that the board had been considering a delicate matter. Judge Good then asked him why he thought the Suburban firm was not responsible. "Because of Mr. Lynch's actions before the board, and his refusal to give satisfactory answers to questions on his financial responsibility and his ability to pay bills and get the job done quickly," Thompson replied.

"It was not for the best interest of the town to do so. Mr. Lynch's blowing up and walking out indicated he was irresponsible."

Chairman Allen M. Flye and Secretary Alexander H. Henderson, members of the Andover board of Public Works, were called as the initial witnesses in the hearing by Atty. Matthew A. Cregg.

The board sought bids in August but readvertised when it was found that these did not conform to "the sub-bid law," according to Flye who said that the second set was opened Oct. 7, and that the contract was awarded to the L. C. Cyr Construction Co. of Lawrence on Oct. 21. The board members and Town Counsel Vincent F. Stulgis were present when the second bids were scanned, he added.

Flye, who testified that representatives of both the Suburban and Cyr concerns were called in by the board, declared that he did not know that the Suburban firm had renovated the Andover Town Hall, and that it did not come to his attention that it had built houses extensively in the town. He told the court that "Mr. the Suburban representative quizzed about business and 'past performances,' he said his concern had been a bond and could do work."

The Suburban bid form signed, the witness continued, he would assume that it was not in proper form. But later that this fact did influence the board in awarding the contract to the Cyr concern.

"If I told you that I had a paper with a handwritten note in your office, would you change your mind?" Cregg inquired. Flye replied in the affirmative.

It was the chairman's contention that the Suburban representative told the board a representative of the contract award that "get off the pot," and that he did not wish to see the "job" Frenchmen in Lawrence. The representative then left the hearing, according to Flye. When he was asked to give up his mind not to give the contract to Suburban, he said in mind that the firm's representative told the board that it wanted the contract.

A motion was made awarding of the contract. The judge does not know who made the motion, the chairman informed the judge. He declared that he remembered Mrs. Helen Peters, newspaper reporter, being at a board session but recollect whether she was there or not.

"I want to know if it was made regularly," Judge Good stated as Town Counsel Bernardin asked that any conversation involving a newspaper reporter be excluded unless it was during the meeting. "I know all about it," Flye said that he did not know.

Mrs. Peters asked how the bid was passed by the board. She said that she did not hear her to board gave the contract to the lowest reliable bidder. Judge Good then asked if he was given an account of the conversation with Mrs. Flye testified that he told the board "we gave it to the low bidder," agreeing with Reilly and David Young, Andover paper editor, were then called to the stand.

The chairman declared that he believed it was his power in the matter but the board "felt superior" and that "all it had to do was give the contract to the low bidder."

"Did you feel that it was absolute discretion?" Judge Good asked. "We believed that it was," answered Flye, "but we have to have to have reason for awarding the contract to the low bidder," answered Flye, "but we have to have reason for awarding the contract to the low bidder."

The chairman declared that he believed it was his power in the matter but the board "felt superior" and that "all it had to do was give the contract to the low bidder."

houses extensively in the town. He told the court that 'Mr. Lynch,' the Suburban representative, was quizzed about business assets and "past performances," and that he said his concern had equipment and a bond and could commence work.

The Suburban bid form was not signed, the witness continued, and he would assume that the bid was not in proper form. But he added later that this fact did not influence the board in awarding the contract to the Cyr concern.

"If I told you that I saw the paper with a handwritten signature in your office, would you change your mind?" Cregg inquired, and Flye replied in the affirmative.

It was the chairman's contention that the Suburban representative told the board at a conference on the contract award that it should "get off the pot," and that he did not wish to see the "job go to two Frenchmen in Lawrence." The representative then left the meeting, according to Flye. When he made up his mind not to give the contract to Suburban, he said, he had in mind that the firm's representative told the board that he did not want the contract.

A motion was made for the awarding of the contract, but he does not know who offered the motion, the chairman informed the judge. He declared that he remembered Mrs. Helen Peters, a newspaper reporter, being present at a board session but could not recollect whether she asked if Cyr were the lowest bidder.

"I want to know if the award was made regularly," Judge Good stated as Town Counsel Stulgis asked that any conversation involving a newspaper representative be excluded unless it took place during the meeting. "I want to know all about it."

Flye said that he did not hear Mrs. Peters ask how the lowest bidder was passed by or if the other bidder had "backed out." He also did not hear her told that the board gave the contract to "the lowest reliable bidder" at an official meeting he added.

Judge Good then requested that he be given an account of the conversation with Mrs. Peters and Flye testified that he told her that "we gave it to the lowest responsible bidder," agreeing that she and David Young, Andover newspaper editor, were then adjacent to his desk.

The chairman declared that the board believed it had absolute power in the matter but denied that the board "felt supreme" or believed that "all it had to do was give the contract to anybody it wanted to."

"Did you feel that you had absolute discretion?" asked Cregg. "We believed that we would have to have reasons for not awarding the contract to the low bidder," answered Flye, adding that he did not hear anybody on the board say afterward that the board had discretionary power.

The chairman would not agree that he "contrasted" the two bidders, claiming that he did not have an opportunity to question the Suburban representative fully.

"You thought Cyr was more responsible, and that's why you gave him the contract?"

"That's right."

Flye went on to say that the board felt that it had "no other way" but to award the contract to the lowest bidder, but that the Suburban representative left the conference without "giving the answers we wanted or answering all the questions we wanted to know." He said that the board quizzed Mr. Lynch on financial and construction ability to expedite the work.

When the chairman agreed that two members of the board are contractors, Cregg inquired as to whether or not he "found out from them how good Suburban was," and the witness replied in the affirmative.

"Did you know that both were friendly with the Cyr corporation?"

"I have no knowledge of such a friendship, but I would think it could be. They know Cyr, but I don't know if they are friendly with him or not."

The record of the Oct. 21 meeting shows that Mr. Lynch stated that he did not "want the job, anyway," according to Flye, who added that the contract was awarded on that date. He claimed that the newspaper reporters were not in attendance at that session, and that the conversation involving Mrs. Peters took place a week later.

Henderson, who said that he is a building contractor, and that another board member, Francis P. Reilly, is also a contractor, told the court that he believes the board still has the original August set of bids. He denied that he has business relations with the Cyr firm or "does a lot of business" with the concern.

"I know Cyr," the secretary declared. "I don't remember any business relations — just in town work."

Henderson, who said that he is "supposed to be the supervisor of the job" at the garage site, maintained that Mr. Lynch told the board at a special Oct. 18 meeting that he had a bond and equipment and could start work. He himself had some doubt, however, that the Suburban firm could do the work, he testified, adding that he does not know that Lynch does "extensive work in Andover."

The Suburban representative became "angry at me" when he asked about the firm's financial condition, according to Henderson.

"He said that he did not want the contract, anyway, and made a remark about 'frogs,'" the secretary went on. "I put that in the record as 'Frenchmen.'"

It "could be possible" that the press was at the Oct. 21 meeting, which was public Henderson informed the judge, adding that about six persons were there, and that he paid no attention, but that Mrs. Peters and Young were present at some time during the evening. He said that he did not hear Mrs. Peters ask if the Cyr firm were the lowest bidder, or why the contract had not been given to Suburban.

The secretary declared that he based his decision on the contract award on the fact that the Suburban representative said he did not want the project and "on his integrity."

CHRISTMAS CHORUS — Pupils in the Shawsheen School are members of a chorus which entertained at the annual Christmas meeting of the Parent Teacher Association last week at the School. The annual school Christmas program was held this week and full details will be found in next week's newspaper.

it and any other work and then report to the Board in time to put a proper article in the town warrant.

Henderson suggested the move because he felt the Board doesn't have time to study the subject any more, after having spent time with both its own plan and two consulting engineers' plans. The Board once had its own plan for cleaning the brook, then engaged Consulting Engineer Clinton Goodwin to draw plans for its reconstruction. Later, the state drew new plans for construction, estimated to cost $881,000.

Board members generally agreed that the town probably won't go along with the state proposal, which would involve the town for at least $440,000 in matching funds. They also felt that past proposals from the Board had been refused by the town meeting.

Thus, Henderson suggested, the Board now needs a fresh approach from a citizens' committee. Its recommendations, he felt, should be ready soon enough to get an article into town meeting.

SEEK WAY TO ACCEPT ROAD

The Selectmen will talk over the articles in the light of legal technicalities, but all three agreed with Chairman Sidney P. White's assurance that "If anything possible can be done to solve your problem in view of your willingness to pay the bill, we shall try to do it."

"We can't ask for anything more than that," the residents said.

The group told the Selectmen they had been to the Board of Public Works some three months ago and were still waiting for a list of the things that have to be done to the road before it can be approved under present rules. In the meantime they have been purchasing and spreading by hand more than 100 yards of gravel to keep the surface passable. The road was left unfinished after houses were built on it before the new Planning Board rule requiring security to guarantee services in any development.

WHICH WOMAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed woman at the right of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch . . . like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

Selectmen's Business

The Selectmen appointed Mrs. George Quesenberry, 24 Andover st., Ballardvale, as special police-woman with traffic duties at the Ballardvale school.

Bids were received for two Mayline five-drawer plan files with top and flush base. Kenneth P. Thompson was awarded the order at a price of $302. L. E. Moran was higher at $362.

New England Telephone Co. and Merrimac Electric Co. were granted permission to erect one pole for the new chemical feed building on the Andover st. well site and six poles on the town property road to the Ballardvale well.

Approved Minutes

Minutes of six Board of Public Works meetings were read by the secretary Monday night and approved. It was noted that the Board received a suggestion, at a meeting Nov. 25, to shut off water service of one person who violated the water restrictions by washing cars.

Tree Removal

A majority of the BPW voted Monday night to allow removal of an elm tree at Lowell St. and Shawsheen rd. which state engineers have said blocks vision of motorists at the intersection. Member David Thompson said he doesn't believe cutting down the one tree solves the problem and was recorded as opposed to the removal. Other members, expressing their belief that trees should be saved wherever possible, felt that the tree should come down if the engineers felt it necessary. Work will be done by the state as part of the Shawsheen rd. reconstruction program.

Highway Supt. Reports

Reporting to the BPW Monday night, Supt. Stanley Chlebowsky said his department had been busy with the following work during the week ending last Sunday: installed remainder of drainage on Hidden rd. — 200 feet of 10-inch pipe and one catch basin; cleaned catch basins; widened bad corners on River st.; stockpiled more sand at the town yard for winter use; dug boulders out of High Plain rd., River rd., North st. and Osgood st. He said the boulders would have interfered with snow plowing later this winter. Chlebowsky also reported that his department patched water trenches and streets where necessary; burned brush on Ballardvale rd.; and made three sideboards for BPW trucks for use in hauling snow.

The tree department was busy during the same period in cutting down Dutch elm trees and in brush removal.

Crisis At Crystal

An oil firm will be sent a bill for time BPW crews spent cleaning catch basins and streets near the Crystal Ballroom. Stanley Chlebowsky, highway department head, reported that a delivery truck crew apparently allowed oil to run in vast quantities last Friday night, flooding the streets and the catch basins. BPW men were called on to do the cleaning job but the time spent will be charged to the firm.

Sanding Operations

Sanding crews were at work last Saturday morning and again Monday morning as slippery conditions were reported throughout the town.

Sidewalk Plowing

A request has been made of the BPW to plow a sidewalk on Lowell st., across from the Livingston property. Members felt that it would be difficult to get the sidewalk tractor-plow to the site, five miles from town. The request came because several children have to walk to the school bus.

Rapid Progress At Wells

Water Supt. Donald Bassett reported Monday night that the construction firm has the foundations in for the pump and chemical feed houses. The power cables are being run under the railroad tracks at the Abbot well site, through the conduit constructed for the water main. The Electric Co. will reimburse the town for the cost of the temporary power installation used this summer.

Hussey's Pond

The BPW is waiting for a reply from the state as to whether it may drain Hussey's Pond. The Fish and Wildlife Division is involved in a problem of this type, members recalled, because the pond has from time to time been stocked. Several verbal and one written objection to draining the pond have been received. Mr. Woodworth also reported that he has water rights from the pond and uses water from it in his cooling system and for his liquid fertilizer sprays during the summer.

Spring Grove Request

Trustees of the Spring Grove Cemetery have asked whether they may borrow the BPW compressor when their workmen strike boulders at the cemetery. BPW members were told by Mr. Bassett that the compressor is always loaned, whenever requested by the cemetery officials, as long as a job is not impeded. The Board felt this situation should continue.

Christmas Party At Bradlee School

The Bradlee school Christmas party was held this morning in the school. The children of all grades were given gifts, cookies and Christmas candy.

Once again Ralph Sharpe came forward and impersonated Santa Claus. The room mothers had charge of the event and they included Mrs. James Gardner, chairman, 4th grade; Mrs. Flora Brainard, kindergarten; Mrs. Ernest Hall, 1st grade; Mrs. James Maher, 2nd grade; Mrs. Robert Mears, 3rd grade and Mrs. Charles Jacobson, 5th grade. This was sponsored by the Ballard Vale P.T.A.

SCHOOL BUDGET TOPS MILLION

Increase due to larger school enrollment;

As a result of maintenance of new buildings;

From Committee's decision to raise teachers' salaries and improvement to the system in certain areas;

General increase in operating costs of previously existing buildings and a full year's budget item for teachers hired in 1957.

The budget itself shows a substantial increase in the salary department — a total of $153,568. All other increases amount to slightly over $63,000.

Although the total increase in salaries is over $150,000, the Committee was quick to explain Tuesday night that only $83,000 of that amount is caused by the new salary schedule.

The remainder comes from two sources — increments granted last April 1 were in last year's budget for 27 weeks and must be in the 1958 budget for 13 weeks. Teachers hired in September of 1957 will continue at their present rate of pay until next September, before going on the new schedule. Thus their pay for a large part of the year must be carried in the budget. There were 12 new teachers hired in September, whose salaries have not before been carried for a major portion of the school year, committee members explained.

The meeting Tuesday night found members of the Finance Committee and Taxpayers Association gathered to discuss the budget. The only major item discussed was salaries, with considerable discussion involving the possibility of making the change-over in two steps rather than one.

Charles Hatch of the FinCom several times suggested that the School Department suffer one more year under "fouled up" salary schedule conditions, by putting the new schedule into effect in two years.

Member Frederick Allis Jr. defended the all-in-a-year move by explaining that the salary schedule gets so involved, if everyone is not put on the schedule where he or she belongs, that it gets unworkable.

The meeting brought out that a few teachers in the system may get as much as a $1500 increase under the new schedule. Most will get considerably less, however. The schedule sets a minimum of $3800, step rates of $300 for four years and $100 annually thereafter until a maximum of $6000 is reached.

Some teachers, not now in their proper place on the salary schedule, would be moved up to their proper place, causing the big increases. Committee members said this will establish a fair and equitable base salary for teachers — and merit can be considered when the salary committee brings in its second report.

Members of the Taxpayers group questioned the procedure, asking whether merit should not be considered in this salary schedule rather than moving all teachers up, then considering merit on top of that.

Committee members felt that the system could operate at best advantage when the teachers were all on what they described as a fair base pay.

In a quick look at the budget, and keeping in mind that the figures may be changed before final approval, we find:

Salaries, total $726,262 for all employees in administrative and teaching categories; 1957 appropriation, $565,529;

General expense, $4000 proposed; $3800 appropriated in 1957; Textbooks and supplies, $33,000 compared to $28,000;

Plant operations and maintenance, $182,394 requested compared to $139,696 appropriated;

Auxiliary agencies (includes library, transportation, cafeterias and tuitions), $65,731 compared to $59,639 appropriated last March;

Physical education, $7000 requested compared to $5100 appropriated for 1957.

(Ed. Note: More details on the proposed budget, reasons advanced in its support and questions on its practicality will appear in next week's TOWNSMAN.)

4 Get Probation For Clothing Thefts

Four young men, two of them Andover residents, have been placed on probation of one year, after receiving suspended three-month sentences on charges of larceny in a building. The youths were charged with invading the locker room at Phillips Academy Oct. 28 during a game with Deerfield Academy and walking off with wearing apparel valued at $288. All four pleaded not guilty in District Court last week but accepted the officer's story.

There were Robert L. Gaudet, 7 Juliette st.; Thomas Andrew, 1 Fleming ave.; Charles J. Coyle, 314 Market st., Lawrence and William F. Walsh, 471 So. Broadway, Lawrence. The judge indicated he might revoke the sentences at the end of the one-year probationary period.

Patrolman William Tammany testified that the boys were rounded up through an auto registration number. He said they admitted taking most of the clothing. He said Walsh denied taking any of the articles but agreed that he was present with the other three. The only item not recovered, the police stated, was an old leather wallet that had been discarded.

Counsel for the youths, Atty. Daniel P. Kiley Jr. and Atty. Augustine D. Riley, argued that the thefts occurred on the spur of the moment when the boys saw the locker room open when passing through the gym.

Good Idea

The Selectmen have decided to limit parking on the upper portion of the Shaw property to two hours and keep all-day parking in the lower level of the municipal lot.

This is all to the good, for it has been our experience that the upper portion of the area — designed for shoppers — is being used by the all-day parkers. Thus fewer persons have bothered to drive down into the lower section when they have intended to spend only an hour or two on the street. This is the same problem that confronted the Selectmen with the lower section — few transient parkers used it because they had to walk up a hill to get onto the street level. And that was one of the main reasons why the upper area was cleared for parking.

Once the area is posted clearly, there can be little excuse for finding any all-day parking in that upper section. With the clear need for adequate off-street parking staring us in the face, we shouldn't clutter up what little space we have with all-day parking.

Eventually, we hope, the problem of parking may be cleared up a little. For the Selectmen have said they would move forward with acquiring some parking areas off Barnard st. Although we haven't heard any recent statements on this subject, we assume it is moving forward as fast as possible so that shoppers will have space to leave their cars in that section of the shopping district.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — December, 1907

Joseph Burns of the Harvard Law School is spending the holidays at his home on Sumner st.

Work is being rapidly pushed on Amos Loomer's house and barns on the Plains.

"Mike" Cashman, formerly of this town, who is playing polo in the west, is compiling a good record. A news story from the Akron Times, datelined New Castle, Pa., tells about his clever offensive play.

Final papers were passed this week in the sale of the George Carter place in West Andover to Aharon Kasabian. It is reported that Mr. Carter has purchased the Joseph Chandler farm in West Andover, formerly owned by Peter D. Smith.

Despite the severe snow storm Saturday night, about 25 friends of Everett Lundgren gave him a surprise party. He was given an umbrella by his friends.

25 Years Ago — December, 1932

No official move has yet been made to cut salaries of public officials. The Finance Committee has indicated it will not take steps to see a salary cut put into effect, but various departmental budgets may be presented with the decrease already figured. The Spring Grove Cemetery trustees have cut wages but no other department yet has made that move. The School Committee discussed the matter this week but decided to wait until a full board is present to take action. However, figures were given the superintendent, apparently showing where cuts could be made in salaries within the department.

Next Monday is the final day for giving used toys to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, or the Fire Department, to eventually be given to an Andover child. The committee already has received many letters from youngsters, some humorous, some pathetic, asking for toys this Christmas. It appears that public response to the project will be such that all youngsters, who otherwise would not receive some toy for Christmas, will be taken care of.

Phillips st., from Main to Abbot and Sherbourne st., from Corbett to William, have been reserved for coasting. All youngsters are urged by the authorities to confine their coasting to those streets, where they will be protected. A real January-style snowstorm fell last weekend and remained on the ground, indicating winter has really set in.

Another Christmas observance at the library is the Christmas party for the Sparrows, today at 10 a.m. and a book talk on buying books for giving, presented by Miss Putnam last week.

Library Closes Early

The Memorial Hall Library will close at 1 o'clock on Tuesday, Dec. 24, for the holiday. It will open at 10 a.m. on Thursday morning. Books have been dated so that none will be due on Tuesday because of the early closing. If necessary, books may be left in the door slot. All recordings should be returned to the desk, however.

Great Books Recess

The next meeting of the Great Books Discussion Group will be to discuss Don Quixote Parts 1 & 2. This is the first meeting of the new year, at 7:45 p.m., Jan. 7. The meetings are held in the Memorial Hall Library.

New Recordings At The Library

The following recordings have been added to the Memorial Hall Library, a purchase made possible by the Fetterman Fund, from which the library has benefited for several years:

An Actor's Holiday, with Theodore Bikel; Bach and His Predecessors — The Art Of Andre

GOURMET "STEALS"

BY BETTY BLAISDELL

Blessings bestowed! Have just unwrapped the annual gift from home — a fabulous hickory-smoked Virginia ham, all cooked, decorated, ready to eat for Christmas dinner. This is the pace-setter for my whole effortless holiday meal, for I don't spoof when I say that the kitchen sees little of me the whole day through, yet all of the family usually agrees that we have a mighty festive board anyway.

What's wrong with opening a can on Christmas Day? After all, things were done the hard way for Thanksgiving. Sweet potatoes, for instance, are wonderfully good straight from the tin, sliced and heated in a little of their syrup with added brown sugar and a lump of butter.

Or white potatoes, cooked and mashed a day or even two days before can be baked au gratin in a matter of minutes. If you did a good mashing job, sans lumps, quite mushy in consistency, then you're all set. Just spread evenly in a buttered, shallow baking dish, sprinkle liberally with grated cheese and drizzle with melted butter. Add a sprinkling of chopped parsley and paprika for Christmas color (and flavor), bake in a hot oven until the cheese is melted and the top is golden-brown.

A molded salad is always present on my Christmas table because all the work is done well in advance, even to the washing and drying of the greens. There's still the unmoulding, of course —

Marchal; Bach — The Eight Little Preludes And Fugues; Bach — Partitas And Sonatas; Bruch — Violin Concerto No. 1, David Oistrakh, violin; Dorothy Kirsten, soprano in famous arias; Franck — Symphony in D Minor; Gluck — Orpheus and Eurydice; Haydn — Symphony No. 100 in G "Military"; Mozart — Concerto No. 21 in C Major; Mozart — Quintet in B-Flat Major; Orchestral Brilliance, concert show pieces conducted by Ferenc Fricsay; Prokofiev — Sonata No. 1 in F Minor; Rachmaninoff — Concerto No. 2 in C Minor; Rachmaninoff — Concerto No. 3 in D Minor; Ravel — Daphnis and Chloe; Schubert-Symphony No. 8 in E Minor and No. 2 in B-Flat Major; Schubert — Octet in F Major; Schumann-Carnival and Fantasie in C Major; Schumann-Concerto in A Minor; Schumann-Dieterliebe, Brahms Six Songs; Sibelius, Symphony No. 2 in D Major; Strauss — Strauss Waltzes, Arthur Rodzinski conducting the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of London; Stravinsky — Petrouchka; also his "Rite Of Spring"; Tschaikovsky — Violin Concerto; Vaughan Williams — Symphony No. 8 in D Minor and Partita For Double String Orchestra; Vivaldi — Concerto in A Minor for Two Violins and string orchestra — Bach's Concerto No. 1 in A Minor and Concerto No. 2 in E Major.

All recordings are loaned for a period of one week. Adult borrowers are allowed three long-playing albums at a time.

A good recipe to use for after Christmas left-over ham, combined with some of the wonderful cultivated mushrooms the markets are showing:

an operation that calls for a bit of a trick if you are to avoid complete and utter disaster. You just shake the mold from side to side as you carefully dip the pan in as hot water. At the first sign of "moving", it's ready to flip and it never fails to turn beautifully, good and firm. I have yet to see this demonstrated on television!

Owning two quart-size Mirro molds in the shape of Christmas trees, I generally prepare a red gelatine salad and a green one, varying the ingredients at whim. Having an extra salad on hand in case friends drop in for supper is a very brilliant idea. Some Christmases I've used the molds for cake pans, baking a gold cake and frosting the two tree layers all over with fluffy white coconut. Surrounding it with lacy princess pine and crystallized fruits, you pine and crystallized something so really do have something so ravishing even the one person who hates coconut will "ah!"

With no costs spared, here's a shrimp salad mold, using S. S. Pierce's Sherry wine flavored prepared gelatine:

SHRIMPS IN ASPIC
2 pkg. Sherry wine gelatine
1 ripe avocado
1 pt. shrimps, cooked in herb bouquet
1 1/2 pt. hot water
lemon juice

Dissolve the gelatine in boiling water, stirring until well blended. Put in a cool place. Have the shrimps chilling in lemon juice. Select 8 or 10 for design and chop the remainder of shrimps rather fine. When the aspic is on the point of setting, cover the bottom and sides of a quart-size tree mold or ring mold with the jelly; set the whole shrimps in place and slivers of avocado (which you sprinkle with lemon juice and drain), then add the minced shrimp to the remaining liquid, filling the mold after the first jelly is firmly set. Unmold on a bed of tender leaves of romaine or watercress and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 cup Pet Evaporated milk
1 cup grated American cheese

Cook the noodles in salted water according to directions on package; drain. Drain and flake the tuna. Make a rich white sauce by melting butter, adding flour and other dry ingredients, the Worcestershire sauce. Stir over low heat till a light brown paste has been formed, then add the milk plus water if needed to make of medium consistency. Into this stir the grated cheese, then pour it over the flaked tuna. Combine with noodles, stir in the ripe olives and pour into greased casserole topped with the asparagus spears. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 min. Serves 6.

House Destroyed On Bellevue Rd.

An unoccupied Bellevue rd. home was badly damaged by fire late Thursday night, Dec. 10, as firefighters from two departments fought the flames in near-zero temperatures.

The home had only recently been vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Rhodes, who moved with their four children to Ballardvale. Fire Chief Henry Hilton said he believed the fire started from a pair of space heaters, used to prevent pipes from freezing.

The flames were discovered by a Tewksbury policeman in a cruiser. Two pieces of apparatus responded from Tewksbury, under the direction of Chief William Chandler and Deputy Chief James Morris.

Andover crews were in charge of Chief Hilton.

Tons of water were poured into the five-room house, which was a mass of flames when the first apparatus arrived.

The Rhodes family is now living with Mrs. Rhodes' mother, Mrs. Alice Joy, 297 Andover st. They had moved to aid Mrs. Joy in preparing for a trip to Florida in the near future. One of the Andover firefighters at the scene was Mrs. Rhodes' brother, Roland Joy.

United Church Guild Toured Parsonage

The regular meeting of the Ballard Vale United Church Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph A. Rosenblad.

A devotional program was held, during which Mrs. Alice Saxe gave a reading "Christmas Lullaby" and Mrs. P. W. Moody read "The story of Christmas". Hymns, including Christmas carols, were sung. Mrs. J. Elwyn Russell accompanied on the organ. Members then went on a tour of the parsonage and saw all the improvements that had been made.

During the business meeting a report on the "Holiday Fair" was given. The next meeting will be held the third Thursday in January with a special program, and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe will have charge. Bags were filled for the Tewksbury State Hospital.

BROWNIES ELECT 1958 OFFICERS

The regular meeting of Brownies Troop 59 was held in the New Room Wednesday, Dec. 11, at which time the following officers were elected: Betty Jean Rust, president; Christine Walcott, secretary; Allison Crowe, treasurer; Betsy MacMackin, publicity. Following the election, parties were made for their Christmas party.

Opposition To 2-Acre Lots Expressed By Vale Residents

Several Ballardvale residents expressed their opposition to upgrading residential areas, during a public hearing in the Vale last week.

The Planning Board reviewed nine proposed zoning changes, during the second of three proposed public hearings. About a dozen residents attended the meeting.

Edward P. Hall, a former Planning Board member and formerly a member of the Board of Public Works and Selectmen, suggested that one-acre house lots would accomplish what the Planning Board has in mind. He felt that citizens of the town are dissatisfied with a lot of re-zoning and urged "Let's give the thing a rest for awhile". Mr. Hall currently is a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Ernest Hall, former member of the BPW and present secretary of the Housing Authority, suggested that high cost of development tends to keep the building rate down.

Robert MacMackin, a former Planning Board member, suggested that the attorney general had recently made a statement against two-acre zoning. Planning Board member Fredric S. O'Brien retorted that the courts had, the day before that statement was issued, warned the attorney general about using his office to influence the zoning around his own home.

William P. Foster of Central st., who owns much land that would be affected by re-zoning, appeared and spoke against the zoning. He also was present at the meeting in West Parish, expressing opposition.

Robert Mayo, a member of the Industrial Commission, said he personally feels that one-acre lots are sufficient to protect the town from too rapid development until industrial development might bring about a different set of circumstances.

Durwood Moody suggested downgrading an area in the Clark rd. - Tewksbury st. section from Zone B to A Zone and Mr. Hall said the town could sewer the area.

In response to another suggestion, Planning Board members agreed to look at the area in

Mr. Doherty will have completed his 27th year on the Board come March. He has served as its secretary since 1944.

A resident of Harding st., he first ran for the Committee in 1931. Since that time he has been continuously re-elected for three-year terms.

Mr. Doherty served for 17 years as a member of the Committee's sub-committee on buildings and grounds; served on special sub-committees on athletics and physical education, for the revision of rules and regulations of the department and a special committee on the Shawsheen School grounds.

He is a past president of the Punchard Alumni Association and is a member of the Andover Board of Trade.

VACANCIES EXIST IN KEY OFFICES

The official list of candidates for re-election has been posted by Town Clerk George Winslow. He customarily asks each incumbent if he desires to stand for re-election. If the officeholder does, his name is listed on a common nomination paper.

Listed on the official paper are the names of Alexander Henderson, for re-election to the Board of Public Works; William A. Doherty, re-election to the School Committee; James Christie, re-election as tax collector and Sidney P. White, Selectman and Assessor.

Other incumbents listing themselves for re-election include Edward I. Erickson, trustee of Memorial Hall Library, seven year term; Edmond E. Hammond, Fred W. Doyle, Harry Sellars, C. Carleton Kimball and Arthur W. Cole, all candidates for re-election as trustees of the Punchard Free School, three year terms; George A. Noury, re-election to the Housing Authority, five years; and George B. Brown, Roy A. Russell and George N. Sparks, constables for one year.

Particular interest centered this week on the Board of Public Works vacancy and the opening on the School Committee.

Candidates to Date

In the BPW field, Mr. Henderson and newcomer John J. Lynch of Chandler rd. are the only candidates to date for the three-year terms. Two will be elected. Harry Axelrod, appointed 10 days ago to the BPW vacancy, is a candidate for the partial term left vacant by the death of P. Lelloy Wilson.

There have been no announced candidates for School Committee other than Mr. Doherty nor has anyone taken out papers for the office of moderator or Board of Health.

Political experts feel that the unusual number of vacancies will draw a substantial group of candidates and stimulate interest in the election.

In the Selectman-assessor contest, the only announced candidates are Mr. White and Lee Noyes. Several other names have been prominently mentioned during the past weeks, with the possibility that one or more individuals will take out papers before the filing day in February.

Adding to the interest is the vacancy on the Planning Board, created by Mr. Noyes' decision to run for Selectman-Assessor. That Board has been in the spotlight in recent years due to its many residential re-zoning proposals.

Flye's Statement

Asked to comment on his withdrawal from the Board of Public Works, Chairman Flye refused to indicate whether he will seek any other elective office. He was a candidate for the Planning Board last March against John Cole, who was elected to fill a vacancy created by Edward P. Hall's decision not to run for the term to which he was appointed.

Other Vacancies

Dr. Blake said he had decided not to seek the Board of Health office again, after serving since 1951. He was appointed to fill a vacancy created by the death of Dr. Percy J. Look. He has run twice and been elected.

Mr. Sherman, moderator for several years, declined to again seek the office. Last year he was re-elected over John O'Connell.

Hearing Held On Gravel Pit

Chester Abbot of Andover st. was given a hearing on his gravel pit application before the Selectmen Monday night.

Chairman Sidney P. White, commenting that Mr. Abbot is a long-time neighbor and friend, disqualified himself from taking part in the hearing and decision.

Secretary of the Selectmen Stafford A. Lindsay presided as Mr. Abbot explained that he wished to level a knoll, fill in some holes and generally improve what he himself described as a present unsightly condition.

Eugene A. Bernardin Jr., an abbot, objected on general principles to a gravel pit license being granted in that residential section as he felt it would be detrimental to the neighborhood in general.

Harold Rafton vice president of the Andover Village Improvement Society, appeared on behalf of his group which he said was interested, not in preventing gravel pits, which they recognized as necessary to construction, but in controlling them.

He asked that the Selectmen see that no sharp banks were allowed, no depressions or sink-holes, have due regard for the character of the neighborhood in which a permit was to be granted, prevent marring of the landscape, see that the land is restored by replacement of plantings such as grass, trees and shrubs, and guard against what might become an eyesore.

Some 14 sand boxes, containing a mixture of sand and salt, have been filled and placed at strategic points around town. Probably three more will be put out, according to Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski.

5 Species Added To Bird Count

Birders in the field and at their feeders found conditions to their liking last Sunday as they set a new record of 44 species of birds observed during the 11th Greater Lawrence Christmas bird count.

Open water was present in most of the ponds and rivers. The large number of herring gulls, 1500, was especially interesting. Five new species were added to the Christmas list, as follows: redwinged blackbird and cowbird, seen on Salem st., No. Andover; an immature white-crowned sparrow at a feeder at Brooks School, No. Andover; a dickcissel at the feeder of Mrs. Leon Houghton, Andover; a field sparrow at the farm of J. Warren Chadwick in West Boxford. These additions bring to 79 the total number of bird species listed during the past 11 counts.

Observers were Mrs. Herbert F. Allicon, Alan Brown, Miss Jane Carpenter, Mrs. Leon Houghton, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Waters Kellogg, John W. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Newcomb, Albert R. Retelle, Heinrich Rohrbach, George K. Sanborn and Mrs. Merwin E. Stevens of Andover; Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Rene C. Champollion, John B. Holt Jr., Cyril E. Piper and Oscar M. Root of No. Andover.

Fire At Manor
Put Out Quickly

A sprinkler system at the Shawheen Manor received credit last Saturday morning for saving the structure from serious damage.

The system went into operation over an area behind the bar in the cocktail lounge. Fire Chief Henry Hilton said the fire may have started from careless disposal of smoking materials in a waste basket. Flames from the basket had eaten into the partitions when the fire was discovered by Thomas Kelly, night clerk at the Manor. The sprinkler system was dumping a solid sheet of water on the fire at that time.

The Fire Department quickly put the fire out when called by Kelly. Considerable water poured into the basement storage area from the sprinkler.

Dr. George J. Colantino, owner of the Manor, was on the scene and inspected the damage. He said none of the Manor's occupants was disturbed during the blaze but several inquired about the noise as the fire apparatus was leaving.

The alarm was sounded shortly after 1 a.m.

WEDDING INTENTIONS

The following wedding intentions have been filed in the office of the town clerk:

John I. McKay, 24 Maginnis ave., Lawrence and Elizabeth Sarkisian, 108 Chandler rd.

A Mother and Baby Care course will be given at the Red Cross Chapter House Jan. 14, 1958 at 8 p.m. providing enough students are recruited.

The course, which helps expectant parents understand pregnancy and childbirth, consists of six two-hour lessons. With the aid of lifesize charts, the growth of the baby during pregnancy is explained. The preparations necessary for the new baby, such as basic layette and equipment, are illustrated. Students practice bathing, dressing and holding the lifesize baby doll.

The course is taught by Mrs. Edith Eastman R.N., who has had the 30-hour Red Cross instructors course. Because this is a Red Cross Course, given by volunteers, the only charge is for the manuals the students wish to purchase. Those interested in registering for this course may call the Red Cross office.

HIGH SCHOOL STUNT NIGHT

The Senior Class of Andover High School has selected a stunt night for its annual senior production. It will be presented to the public April 18, 1958. The entire class will participate in the Stunt Night under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Wilson.

School Artists Interpreted Nativity Story For All To See

This year the Art Department at Andover High School, taking full advantage of its new facilities, has developed the Christmas theme for the full student body to view.

Different interpretations of the Nativity Story have been placed along the front entrance hall and display corridor of the school. In addition a group of floor length windows of one of the corridors has been transformed into a translucent mural depicting the same subject.

These displays will remain until Feb. 1 and the school invites anyone interested to view them during school hours.
